
Robyn Boerstling

*Director, Transportation and Infrastructure Policy
National Association of Manufacturers (NAM)*

Robyn M. Boerstling joined the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) in April 2008 as the Director of Transportation and Infrastructure Policy. Robyn helps direct the NAM's transportation advocacy agenda and works on legislative and coalition efforts that seek to repair and modernize the nation's infrastructure. In addition, she adds the manufacturing voice to a range of transportation and security regulatory issues that impact NAM members.

Previously, Robyn served as the Counselor to the Assistant Secretary for Transportation Policy in the Office of the Secretary at the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT). She worked in policy development and assisted with the day-to-day management of the Office of Transportation Policy.

Robyn joined the DOT in October 2001 as a Schedule C Presidential Appointee and also worked in the Secretary's Office of Public Affairs as a Special Assistant from 2003 to 2005. From 2001 to 2003, Robyn directed the U.S. Maritime Administration's Office of Congressional and Public Affairs. Prior to her time at the DOT, Robyn was a legislative assistant to a state senator in the Connecticut General Assembly.

A native of Madison, Connecticut, Robyn is a graduate of Colby College in Waterville, Maine, and gained a life-long love of transportation from her father, who continues to travel along the coast of New England as a harbor pilot. Robyn serves on the Washington Board for Colby College's Goldfarb Center for Public Engagement. She also holds memberships in the Women's Transportation Seminar and the Connecticut Maritime Association.

Ms. Boerstling resides in Washington, D.C., with her family.
