
Gary Malasky

Mr. Gary Malasky is the Senior Real Estate Advisor at Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (“Metro”). His work in promoting transit oriented development includes negotiating complex development agreements, creating policy updates, and initiating new solicitations.

Before joining Metro, Mr. Malasky’s experience was in the private sector. As a principal of his own development company, he did ground up office building development and renovated retail properties. Through various ventures he also has experience with hotel, industrial, and telecom real estate. At one time, he assembled a portfolio of 2000 apartment units for investment. He also served as a Senior Acquisitions Officer at Washington Real Estate Investment Trust. His education includes degrees from the Wharton School and Harvard Law School.